

GLENN TILBROOK

One For The Road

Sony BMG

Delightfully informal road trip.

Forget Fear & Loathing and Easy Rider. This is inspired by what was possibly the first British road movie (a rare breed) - 1963's Summer Holiday starring Cliff Richard and a double-decker bus.

Tilbrook takes to the highways and byways of America with two guitars, his wife, a small crew and a liberating absence of record company involvement. Broadcaster Amy Pickard is on hand to capture every detail of this epic journey, from the problems of finding a motor-home and keeping it rolling to Tilbrook's acoustic reworkings of great Squeeze songs in small clubs, his impromptu performances in car parks and fans' houses, and the minutiae of everyday life on board an unreliable RV.

Carol Clerk